

St. Peter's College
College of General Studies
Department of Spanish

ANNOUNCED FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF SPANISH FACULTY

Type of appointment:	Secure-Frank Teaching
Effective Date:	August 2021

The Spanish Department of the College of General Studies of the University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedras Campus is excited that together, its academic work around race and transdisciplinarity is growing and that our success is growing.

Requirements

Doctoral degree (PhD) from an accredited university in one of the following areas: literature in Spanish, Puerto Rican, Caribbean, Latin American, or Hispanic Linguistics, or the Teaching of Spanish Language.

Capacity for research.

Agreement in the preparation of courses at a higher level and teaching experience, if proven and verified, according to the new methodological and technological trends in education, including distance education and the integration of knowledge.

Personal and professional will, jobbing, and the dissemination of knowledge.

Availability for these appointments.

Commitment with the designing of proposals and research projects.

Commitment with work for research funding.

Work Description

Teach courses of Spanish. Willingness to offer courses in other departments and programs in the College of General Studies. Generate coursework with local and international social issues. Create and teach new courses in diverse modalities of teaching: face to face, hybrid and online. Conduct and disseminate academic research. Publish research in academic journals or integrate it into creative work, for local and international dissemination. Provide individual mentor, work in committees, attend seminars and workshops for professional training participants.