

St. Peter's College
College of General Studies
Department of Spanish

ANNOUNCED FOR STUDENT TEACHING EXPERIENCE

Type of experience:	Secure Teaching Practice
Effective dates:	August 2021

The Spanish Department of the College of General Studies of the University of Puerto Rico, Rio Piedras Campus is excited that together, its students work around race and transdisciplinarity to advance and diversify courses.

Requirements

Students majoring in BA/BS must be currently enrolled in one of the following areas: Literature in Spanish, Puerto Rican, Caribbean, Latin American, or Hispanic Linguistics, or the Teaching of Spanish Language.

Capacity for research.

Agreement to the preparation of courses at a higher level and teaching experience, in person and online, according to the new methodological and technological trends in education, including distance education and the integration of knowledge.

Development and commitment with publishing and the dissemination of knowledge.

Availability for these experiences.

Commitment with the designing of proposals and research projects.

Commitment with work for research funding.

Work Description

Teach courses of Spanish. Willingness to offer courses in other departments and programs in the College of General Studies. Generate coursework with local and international social issues. Create and teach new courses in diverse modalities of teaching: face to face, hybrid and online. Develop and disseminate academic research. Publish research in academic journals or integrate it into creative work, for local and international dissemination. Provide individualized courses, work in committees, attend seminars and workshops for professional training participants.