

Announcement for a Tenure-Track Teaching Position in Linguistics

The Department of English in the College of Humanities at the University of Puerto Rico, Río Piedras Campus seeks to recruit a tenure-track teaching position in Linguistics beginning August 1, 2021.

Requirements:

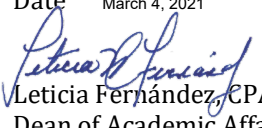

- Ph.D. in Linguistics, Applied Linguistics, English Linguistics, or a closely related field awarded from an accredited university, by the time of appointment
- Academic expertise and research activity in one or more of the following preferred areas: Caribbean linguistics, bilingualism, ethnolinguistics, and language acquisition
- Evidence of potential for excellence in teaching at the university level
- Evidence of successful research and peer-reviewed publications commensurate with professional level
- Demonstrated commitment to working successfully with a diverse student population.
- Adequate skills in technologies used in the teaching-learning process and distance-learning education
- Availability for supervising theses and dissertations
- Commitment to actively seeking external funding

Duties will include teaching in person and online and mentoring of undergraduate and graduate students. The successful candidate will be able to teach a wide range of introductory courses in linguistics, advanced undergraduate courses, and graduate (M.A. and Ph.D.) courses that reflect the candidate's expertise and meet departmental needs; strengthen the department's doctoral offerings on Caribbean languages, mentor undergraduate and graduate students in their research and academic careers; supervise theses and dissertations; and develop proposals for external funding. Evidence of external funding will be seen favorably. A candidate with interest in the languages and culture of Puerto Rico and knowledge of Spanish (or a willingness to learn it) is preferred.

To apply, please submit the following: a letter of intent that explains your qualifications and research goals, an up-to-date curriculum vitae, official transcript(s) of all their degrees, three (3) letters of recommendation, evidence of quality of teaching, and a writing sample of 20-35 pages. Please submit materials by April 12, 2021, to:
