

University of Puerto Rico
Río Piedras Campus
School of Law

TENURE TRACK TEACHING POSITION

The University Puerto Rico School of Law is recruiting two candidates for tenure track teaching positions with an expected starting date of January 1, 2023.

Requirements

- Juris Doctor or its equivalent and one of the following degrees: PhD, SJD, MEd or an LL.M from a recognized institution;
- Willingness to assume academic responsibilities in one or more of the following areas:
 - Tort Law, Contracts, Property, Evidence, Criminal Law, or Criminal Procedure.
- The candidate must be admitted to the practice of law in accordance with Puerto Rico regulations or another jurisdiction and must have oral and written command of the Spanish and English languages as well as experience in effective law teaching in person and online;
- The candidate must have academic publications in the field of Law;
- Ability for research or creative work;
- Availability to direct projects; and
- Commitment to seeking external funding.

Responsibilities

- This is a fulltime position and the responsibilities comprise teaching in person and online, research and publication;
- Direction of graduate students in research work;
- Search for external funds; and
- All other tasks inherent to legal academia.

Application procedure:

- Send a cover letter that reflects your interest in the position, your academic vision, your areas of research and / or creative work;
- Updated Curriculum vitae;
- Official copy of the academic records of all degrees;
- Evidence of publications (in paper and PDF format); and
- Two letters of recommendation.

Interested persons must submit their credentials and required documents via email on or before August 31, 2022, to the following address: anaya.marcos@upr.edu.